

Zoltan Varro

Zoltan Varro, the founder of Varrodesign is a multi-award-winning designer of international recognition who left his mark in several European locations from London to Lake Como. He has designed over eighteen hotels in the past few years and has won a Gold Key Award (New York), the World Luxury Hotel Award (Hong Kong) and the Boutique Hotel Award (London). He started his career over 20 years ago in the city of Budapest, where he was exposed to the rich and eclectic architectural heritage of great classical, art nouveau and modernist masters.

One of his landmark projects, the Aria Hotel Budapest was named the best hotel in the world by TripAdvisor's Travellers' Choice Award based on reviews complementing the hotel's music inspired design and sky bar, amongst other qualities. The Aria Hotel Budapest has also won Europe's Best Wellness Spa in London's World Boutique Hotel Awards and was nominated for a Gold Key Award in three different categories: Best Hotel Luxury, Best Guest Room Luxury, Best Lobby Luxury.

He tends to work with his clients across the portfolio, an example of which is his co-operation with the hotel group, CPI Hotels with three projects in Budapest, the Mamaison Chain Bridge Hotel, the Funky Budapest Hotel, and the Mamaison Residence Izabella.

He is also known for immersing into the heritage of his projects, such as the Mystery Hotel in the old Freemasons headquarter of Budapest, the only European project among the finalists of Best Lobby and Best Guestroom in Luxury Design at the Gold Key Awards in 2019. The Mystery Hotel Budapest is one of those properties where one can observe Zoltan Varro's visionary usage of fabric. Beyond property-specific designs, he has been working closely with one of the world's leading fabric houses, whose owner invited Zoltán in 2016 to design the collection for the company's luxury brand, Grandezza.

In 2021, his Mirror Spa in Platan Tata (Hungary) built on the old moat grounds of a 14th-century royal castle was shortlisted for Gold Key Awards in the category of Best Specialty Design. The Platan Tata went through a complete interior transformation inspired by the nearby Esterhazy Palace, the natural beauty of the neighbourhood, and the artisanal gastronomy of the resident Michelin-star chef. A year and a half after its opening, Platán Gourmet Restaurant was awarded the prestigious two Michelin stars, becoming the first countryside restaurant in Hungary to receive such recognition.

Zoltán Varró's latest completed hotel project is the Nuvole Garden Hotel, a restored historic Art Nouveau luxury property located in Brunate, Italy – often referred to as the “balcony of the Alps.” With its exceptional location offering breathtaking views over Lake Como, the project stands as a perfect example of Varró's design philosophy, which seamlessly blends timeless elegance with contemporary style.

Besides making it to the finals four times with five different projects, Zoltan Varro received the Gold Key Award for Excellence in Hospitality Design for the Science Hotel (Szeged, Hungary) in the category of Best Lobby Budget/Focused Service.
